BRIGHAM AND WOMEN'S HOSPITAL

Department of Emergency Medicine

Fellowship in Health Policy Research and Translation

The Fellowship in Health Policy Research and Translation trains future leaders in emergency medicine to design, conduct, and translate innovative research and practice changes into health policy. Fellows divide their time between mentored policy-related research projects, class work, a policy practicum, and clinical work in the Emergency Department of our nationally recognized hospitals. The fellowship is two years. Successful applicants must be board eligible in emergency medicine.

Fellows will have the opportunity to earn a Master's Degree from the Harvard School of Public Health or Kennedy School of Government. The program is designed for those seeking a successful and productive career at the intersection of health policy and emergency care.

The curriculum is tailored to the fellow's interests and is divided into five areas:
1) Quality and safety 2) Health policy training 3) Health policy practicum
4) Health economics 5) Research Methods and Grant Writing.

Important 2019 Dates:
Application due: October 15
Primary Interview Day: October 22
Make-up Interview Day: October 30

Applicants must apply separately to their Harvard graduate program by December 1, 2019.

Required documents:
- Application form, letter of interest, CV, and personal statement
- Three letters of recommendation (at least one from residency director or current chairman)

For more information, please visit our website or contact us at:

emhp.bwh.harvard.edu

Scott G. Weiner, MD, MPH
Fellowship Director
Department of Emergency Medicine
Brigham & Women's Hospital
75 Francis Street, Boston, MA 02115

hrichmond@bwh.harvard.edu
Office: 617-732-4727
Fax: 617-264-6848